DESCRIPTION

The objective of this programme is to create new professional profiles, which are Ambassadors in Creative Thinking: master's degree graduates who know how to promote the knowledge and skills characteristic of the culture and ways of thinking/acting of design culture, which are increasingly widespread among the various disciplines and application contexts linked to business and innovation. The profile of PoliMI Ambassador in Creative Thinking corresponds to a professional figure who knows how to analyse, interpret, and face the new design challenges (e.g. the transition towards digital and sustainability), in the various sectors in which, in order to produce innovation, an interdisciplinary education and a strategic and systemic vision with an approach centred on the needs of the users and stakeholders involved is required.

The training programme is articulated within the MSc educational path, and sets at at least 130 ECTS for MSc (thus at least extra 10 ECTS in addition to the standard MSc requirements) the minimum number of ECTS needed to complete the selected MSc and, at the same time, to qualify for the certification of Ambassador in Creative Thinking.

As part of the educational training, students must acquire at least 30 ECTS in courses related to
